EDSBYN GATHER ARMCHAIR

The Gather Armchair is a development of the much-appreciated Gather Sofa by Andreas Engesvik, which was presented at the Stockholm Furniture Fair last year.

The sofa programme was developed to combine the advantages of the modular sofa with the aesthetics of a free-standing sofa. The Gather Armchair not only matches the sofa programme perfectly – Gather also has its own unique expression among sofas, with its well-balanced proportions complemented with slender legs that give the impression of the armchair “floating” above the floor.

Its clear character makes it easy to picture the Gather Armchair placed in groups in spaces where the aim is to encourage seated socialising and conversation, like in a hotel lobby or lounge. The armchair is also extremely comfortable, with padding that means it's perfect both for working with a laptop or relaxed sitting – just like the sofa.

The Gather programme is not just about aesthetics. The construction, with slender legs installed in a steel framework and modules placed on top, also has many advantages, from configuration to production, logistics and installation.

The Gather Armchair has a holistic expression, with rounded but well-balanced proportions delineated by the characteristic seam running around the armchair. This is a perfect armchair for both public and home environments.
